

Nyaung Ywa Community Development Center

Nyaung Ywa, Myanmar

Community Catalyst

From the moment of its construction, the Community Development Center looks to become a beacon within the community. The center opens up to the community, meeting several needs that are currently being unmet (such as healthcare, a place for worship and learning, as well as providing the community with farming education and crops). The concept behind the center is to be a continues center for education and knowledge, even in its construction period. Its simple-frame construction and use of local materials not only allows for the center to easily expand as its need grow, but also become an adaptable model for the community to learn from and use themselves.
